

I strongly recommend not passing any laws that diminish the effect of the Indiana Phone Privacy Law. Since its implementation the number of nuisance call have almost stopped completely. No company or organization has the right to invade my privacy without my permission. If special interest are able to get a national law to restrict state law on this issue then our country is in terrible trouble.